

Development of a fan repair slot cover for a test rig

Adjustable cover for blanket fan conditioner

- task is to develop a slot cover, the width of the slot in the machine direction can be adjusted without stopping the machine from the treatment bridge, taking into account safety distances.
- The task is to develop a slot cover, the width of the slot in the machine direction can be adjusted without stopping the machine from the treatment bridge, safety distances taken into account
- The transverse width of the machine must also be adjustable, but stopping the machine during adjustment is permitted
- The test device will be used to test the suitability of the fan refurbishment of felt used on pulp dryers for paper and board machines

